Tuesday-Thursday; 8:00am-4:30pm

Friday; 8:00 am-12:00pm

Host Agency:

USF Center for Urban Transportation Research (CUTR)

3808 USF Alumni Drive - Room 102

Tampa, FL 33620

Phone: (813) 974-3120

Course Description:

This 3½ day course will provide participants with information on understanding the necessity, purpose, development, and implementation of emergency management, and how it relates to the other safety functions of a transit system. Participants will learn how to better understand the emergency management concept and the role of the transit system in responding to emergency/disaster situations in both the community and transit system. The course provides information related to acquisition and operational phases of a transit system life cycle. Participants will be prepared to understand the elements of an effective emergency management program, and how interaction of these elements affects the management of the emergency situations, as well as the roles and responsibilities of internal transit agency personnel and external stakeholders (e.g. fire, police, EMS, etc.) The course structure includes training related to the US National Response Framework (NRF), National Incident Management System (NIMS), and Incident Command System (ICS). The course concludes with an Advanced Table-Top Exercise (TTX) involving the class participants and utilizing the Homeland Security Exercise and Evaluation Program (HSEEP) format. The course offers 2.0 CEUs.
